MAKERERE INSTITUTE OF SOCIAL RESEARCH (MISR)
INTERDISCIPLINARY MPhil/PH.D. PROGRAM IN SOCIAL STUDIES

CALL FOR APPLICATIONS FOR ADMISSION TO THE 2025 CLASS

The Makerere Institute of Social Research launched its interdisciplinary Ph.D. in Social Studies program in January 2012. This five-year program comprises three years of coursework leading to the attainment of a Master of Philosophy in social studies, followed by two years dedicated to fieldwork and dissertation writing, culminating in the award of a Ph.D. in social studies. Four broad themes define the program's intellectual focus: political studies, political economy, historical studies, and literary and cultural studies. While students specialize in one field, they engage in coursework across all four themes. This allows students to be grounded theoretically while also giving them a broad foundation in historically informed debates in the humanities and social sciences. Additionally, students are required to complete core courses focusing on theory and historiography. The courses are taught by MISR faculty, faculty from other Makerere departments, and prominent visiting scholars through the MISR Global Scholars Program. As the thirteenth cohort progresses, applications are invited for the fourteenth cohort commencing in January 2025.

Admission Criteria

The MISR Interdisciplinary MPhil/Ph.D. program is open to applicants who have earned a B.A. Upper Second or equivalent (students with less than a B.A. Upper Second must demonstrate evidence of academic maturity, such as a postgraduate diploma). Applicants who have a master's or Ph.D. are welcome to apply; however, all students must complete the entire program, including two years of coursework, regardless of their prior academic qualifications.

Fees

The fee structure is as follows:

- Ugandans/East Africans: 4 million Uganda Shillings per semester. East Africa includes Ethiopia, Eritrea, Sudan, South Sudan, Somalia, Djibouti, Congo, Kenya, Tanzania, Rwanda, Burundi, Comoros, Mauritius, and Madagascar.
- Students from outside East Africa: US$4,000 per semester.
