

Slaves of State,
Intellectuals of Development:
A Genealogy of Development in Ethiopia

YONAS ASHINE DEMISSE

MAKERERE INSTITUTE OF SOCIAL RESEARCH

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS	10
INTRODUCTION	12
CHAPTER 1	17
Slaves and the Formation of the Ethiopian State in the Longue Durée	17
Slavery, a Scotoma in the Political History of Ethiopia	19
Theorising Ethiopian State Formation in the Longue-Durée	24
Gəbər as Tributary Link in Ethiopian State Formation	27
Process as a Mode of State Formation	29
Triple Ideologies and Multiple Polities	30
War, Slavery and the Formation of States	32
Triple Ethnographic Moments: Discourse, Political Subjects and Things	35
CHAPTER 2	42
Slaves in the Emperor's Palace— Rethinking Pre-Modern Ethiopia	42
Emperors, Slaves and the Zega : Formation of the Ethiopian State and Subjects	42
Pastoral Power in Private and Public Realms: A Theory of Géta-Barya Relations	44
Čäwa : Captivity, Royal Army and Gentry	57
The Čäwa Army and the Making of Pre-modern Ethiopia: 13th to 18th Centuries	59
CHAPTER 3	71
History Meets Fiction: State Formation and the Making of Barya and Geta	71
Tohya : Reading Pre-Modern State Formation in a Modern Fiction	72
Enslaving the Uncivilized and Civilizing the Enslaved: Civilization in Slavery	81
Gäbrä Mäsqäl Baryaw : Slaves as Subjects of Civilization	85

CHAPTER 4	92
Pre-Modern Prophecy in Modern Politics: The Ethos of Modern Ethiopia	92
Fəkkare Iyäsus: The Politics of Prophecy in Pre-Modern Ethiopia	95
Ethos of the Modern State: Between Authors and Discourses	100
Kassa and Fekkaré Iyäsus: The Creative Subject and the Discursive Tradition	103
 CHAPTER 5	 108
Concepts, Discourses and Things: Developmentalism as Civilizational Discourse in the Late Nineteenth Century	 108
The Prophet and Objects of Civilization: From Šarat to Šəltane	118
Temples of Civilization: Mediating Between the Emperor and the Zega	122
 CHAPTER 6	 130
From Slaves to Palace Intellectuals: Subjects and the Discourse of Development in Ethiopia to the 1920s	 130
Enlightening the Prince: Writing Šəltane and Ləmat into History	137
The Concept of Ləmat: Towards the Kingdom of Wealth and Knowledge	140
Extended State Formation Process as a Cause of the Destruction of Wealth and Knowledge	142
State Developmentalism	146
The Prophet of Šəltane and “The Modern Prince”	149
Behind the Fable of Discipline: The Discourse of šəltane and ləmat	153

CHAPTER 7	160
Discursive Community of Śalāṭane:
Ethnography of the Newspaper Bərhanənnā Sālam	160
Debating the Concept of Śalāṭane	165
Education as Temple of Civilization	167
Civilizing Eve in the World of Adam	169
Nobles: Both the Multitude and Disciples of Śalāṭane	170
Ethiopian Śalāṭane vs European Civilization	171
Reading Against Bərhanənnā Sālam 's Grain:
The Voice of the Subaltern	174
Land to the Peasant for National Civilization	176
Barya and geta in the Bərhanənnā Sālam
Discursive Community	178
Conclusion	182
CHAPTER 8	184
Colonial Developmentalism and Politics:
From Occupation to Legacy	184
Colonial Discourse: Humanitarian Civilization
and Late Colonial Developmentalism	186
Italian Indirect Rule and the Local State of the Natives	191
Discourse of śalṭane in the New Era:
Negotiated and Reactive Discourse 1941–1974	201
Colonial Legacy and Detribalization:
Amharicization and Depoliticization of Religion	203
The Prophet of Development and
Men of Emperor in the Post-Italian Period	207
Conclusion	210

CHAPTER 9	212
The Intellectuals: The Poetics and Politics of Development (1940s–1970s)	212
Ḥaddis Alämayähu: Decolonizing and Democratizing Development	219
Käbbädä Michael: Localizing Western Civilization through a Strong State	222
Asräs Yäne säw: Return to the Source as a Way to Śäləṭane	228
Ḫgualä Gäbrä-Yoḥannəs: Towards Bä-Təwahədo Yä-käbäräl (Enriched with Synthesis)	234
CHAPTER 10	238
Development as Struggle: Reformist Bureaucrats and Popular Movements (1940s–1970s)	238
Addis Śäləṭane : The Development Discourse in the Post-war Period	238
The Popular Development Communities in Ethiopia	244
Conclusion	248
EPILOGUE	250
BIBLIOGRAPHY	254